You are allowed to feel how you feel. So if you are feeling overwhelmed by the slowness of things this season, be easy on yourself. Remember: every season life will take its own time to make sense, to come into its full shape. Don't be stressed by the pace of your progress. Trust the journey. Find joy in the process. It may not be easy to walk through some days, maybe life will look a lot different than you hope at times. But hang in there. Remind yourself that like all the seasons of life, this one that you going through will also pass.
